

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Acts directly and peculiarly on the blood; purifies, enriches and revitalizes it, and in this way builds up the whole system. Take it. Get it to-day.

In usual liquid form or in chocolate coated tablets called Sarsapabs. (Advertisement.)

Social and Personal

Mrs. Norman V. Randolph has issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Meta Lee, to Augustus Royall Turpin, the ceremony to take place on Saturday evening, January 1, at 8 o'clock, in the home of the bride's mother, 1211 Grove Avenue. The wedding is one of the most important social events of the winter season, owing to the social prominence of both Mrs. Randolph and Mr. Turpin. Miss Randolph is a descendant of the Lees and, like Mr. Turpin, belongs to some of the most distinguished and widely known families in the State.

Miss Jackson's Debut.
Miss Evelyn Hyman Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Jackson, of 1014 West Franklin Street, was presented to Richmond society yesterday at two very handsome receptions. The married set was invited in the afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock, and the young people were invited from 7 to 9 in the evening. The Jackson home was hung with a profusion of lovely blossoms for the affair. In the drawing-room, where the receiving party stood, decorations were in pink begonias against a background of palms and Southern amilax, and a big round table held the numbers of beautiful bouquets sent to the debutante by her friends. In the library the holiday colors prevailed, and red flowers and amilax were used everywhere. The hall was also arranged with bay trees and poinsettias and a display of the amilax. In the dining-room the table was set with a large, gold-hued chandelier with pink tulle and filled with lilies of the valley and pink roses. The mantels were banked with bouquets of the same flowers, and all of the lights were shaded in rose color.

Mrs. Jackson stood at the head of the receiving line and introduced her daughter to the guests present. Mrs. Jackson's gown was of white tulle and lace, with embroidery of silver and gold.

Dr. B. Lawrence Talliferro, of the Catawba Sanatorium, is in the city for a few days visiting his parents, on his way from Norfolk, N. Y., where he attended the American Sanatorium Association. While in New York he visited Montefiore Country Sanatorium, at Bedford, and also the famous Lenox Sanatorium, at Liberty, N. Y. At a meeting of the Nurses' Club Tuesday afternoon and the Academy of Medicine Tuesday night he had the pleasure of meeting many of his friends among the nurses and doctors. Dr. Talliferro expects to continue his work at Catawba until next fall.

German in Norfolk.
The Norfolk Assembly, the most exclusive social organization of the city, took place Tuesday evening in the Thelma Club and set a new standard of German in Norfolk, for it was quite the handsomest affair of the kind ever given in this city.

The decorations were unusually pretty, in the dining-room dozens and dozens of pink roses were used, and in the parlors the amilax was shaded in pink and silver. Loups of Japanese lanterns entwined with Southern amilax were strung across the room. On each table was a white basket filled with pink Killarney roses, and candles in silver candlesticks, shaded in pale pink, completed one of the most artistic decorations ever used in this club.

Walter H. Taylor, Jr., led the cotillion. The favors for one of the German figures were Japanese umbrellas for the girls and small Japanese lanterns for the men. Another pretty figure had decorated hoops for the girls and jockey caps for the men.

Those asked to receive were Mrs. Merritt Cooke, Mrs. D. S. Burwell, Mrs. Richard Walke, Mrs. William C. Dickson, Mrs. R. A. Dobie, Mrs. Hugo Osterhaus, Mrs. Rufus Parks, Mrs. John G. Quimby, Mrs. M. S. McIntosh and Mrs. James Y. Leigh. Among the out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Emma Gray White of Richmond; Miss Nellie Tate Talbott, of Waynesboro; Miss Polly Dixon and Miss Anne Randolph, of Norfolk; and Mrs. Hunt Chipley, of New York.

Important Meeting.
The Grandchildren's Chapter, No. 1, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will meet in the William Fox School, Hanover Avenue, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The meeting is a very important one and all members of this chapter are urged to be present at the meeting this afternoon.

In and Out of Town.
Miss Gladys Lee, of Danville, is spending some time as the guest of Mrs. A. A. Booth, at her home in Glinter Park.

Wallace Henderson, who has been ill at the Grace Hospital here, is now slowly improving.

Miss Grace Hamilton, of Baltimore, will come to Richmond in a few days to spend some time with relatives here.

Miss Cora Winston, who has been in Richmond for two months, will leave in January for New York.

Miss Nell Davidson has returned to Washington, after spending a few days here with Miss Katherine Gunn.

Mrs. W. L. Royall and Miss Emily Royall expect to spend Christmas in this city visiting relatives.

Miss Mary Patterson will go to Powhatan the latter part of this month for a short stay.

Mrs. Mary Pace Groner is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pace, at 1111 1-2 Grove Avenue.

Gilkeson-McKee.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Buena Vista, Va., December 12.—A wedding took place in the parlor of the Marlbrook Hotel Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, when Miss Mary McKee, only daughter of the late John T. McKee, of this city, was married to Harry Lee Gilkeson, a well-known business man of this city. On account of a recent bereavement in the family of the bride, only the immediate members of both families were present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. C. Hopkins, Jr., pastor of the Presbyterian Church. For the present they will make their home in this city.

Miss Mary Butler, who has been in Lexington, Ky., visiting friends for the past ten days, returned to Richmond yesterday morning. Miss Butler will visit in Richmond until Monday, when she will leave for her home, "Poplar Grove," in Mathews County, where she will remain until after the holidays.

Miss Lenore Tinsley, of "Pleasant-wood," who went to Kentucky with Miss Butler, is now visiting relatives in Huntington, W. Va., where she will spend the next week before coming to Richmond.

rhinestones, and she carried a bouquet of Parma violets. Her daughter wore a lovely Parisian gown of white chatelaine, made with a train and finished with pearls. The train of lace were caught up with pearl ornaments, and she held a quaint nosegay of pink orchids and lilies of the valley, fringed with paper lace and caught with pink streamers. Mrs. E. E. Moffitt, grandmother of the debutante, who was also in the receiving line, wore a handsome gown of black moire silk trimmed in real lace, and carried a bouquet of violets and lilies of the valley. Others in the receiving line were Miss Mary Irvin Watkins, a debutante of this winter; Miss Edith Poul and Mrs. James H. Poul, of Raleigh, N. C.

In the afternoon Mrs. Edmund Strudwick and Mrs. John S. Woodward were at the punch bowl, and others assisting in doing the honors were Mrs. Philip Carlton, Mrs. Spencer Plummer, Mrs. Percy Feghali. In the evening those assisting were Miss Carolina Preston, W. A. Graham, Miss Elizabeth Hargrave, Miss Betty Washburn, of Baltimore, and Mrs. J. Allison Hodges, with a number of the married women, who also assisted at the afternoon reception. Miss Louie Johnston and Miss Austin Bertrand, who made their debut here last winter, were at the punch bowl. Some 500 guests were entertained altogether, and both receptions marked brilliant and fashionable gatherings of society people, with a number of guests from a distance. Following the reception in the evening the floor was cleared and an informal dance took place.

Spent Holidays Here.
Mrs. Arthur Glasgow sails from England next week for this country. Mrs. Glasgow will come at once to Virginia to spend the Christmas holidays with her father, John P. Branch, in this city, as is her custom. Some very handsome entertaining will be incident to Mrs. Glasgow's stay in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kerr Branch and Misses Zay and Louise Branch, who have been in New York since early fall, are expected to arrive in Richmond on Saturday of this week, when they will be the guests of Mr. Branch at 1 West Franklin Street for the next several months. Mr. and Mrs. John Kerr Branch entertain charming house parties at their country estate in Dutchess County, New York, and their home there on the Hudson River is one of the show places of that section.

Returned From Kentucky.
Miss Mary Butler, who has been in Lexington, Ky., visiting friends for the past ten days, returned to Richmond yesterday morning. Miss Butler will visit in Richmond until Monday, when she will leave for her home, "Poplar Grove," in Mathews County, where she will remain until after the holidays.

TAKING STEPS TO CHECK SMALLPOX

Many Cases Along North Carolina Line Reported to Health Authorities.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Houston, Va., December 12.—The Board of Supervisors of Halifax held an extra session to consider the small-pox situation in the county. Dr. H. B. Melvin, of the Board of Health, reported cases all along the North Carolina line, at New River, Scottsboro, South Boston, Meadville, and other places. He reported one death. In many instances the disease is in the most violent form.
